

A GOOD-BYE TO THE OCEANIC.

She is to be Sent to England, to be Practically Rebuilt.

Will Not Make Another Round Trip—She is to be Made Speedy—The Coptic Will be Her Successor.

The Oceanic will not be in this port again, en route to the States, for some time. After making her Chinese and Japanese ports next month, she will proceed to England through the Suez Canal to be practically rebuilt. Her cabins will be refitted, her engines taken out and replaced by powerful machines that will be expected to drive the vessel at the rate of from 16 to 18 knots an hour. After the Oceanic has left, the Gaelic and Belgic will follow to undergo the same alterations.

The Coptic, which will substitute the Oceanic, and possibly remain on the run permanently, is an exceptionally fine craft and can lead the Canadian Pacific liners a lively race. Her dimensions are not very different from those of the Belgic and Gaelic, she being only ten feet longer and two feet broader of beam. She was built in 1881 by Harlan & Wolff of England, and is a very much faster vessel than the Oceanic. The latter was built at Belfast.

The Coptic is built entirely of steel. She has three decks and seven watertight bulkheads. Her gross tonnage is 4488 tons.

The Coptic registers 550 nominal horse-power, or fifty horse-power more than the Oceanic. Her speed is about 17 knots.

Men who claim to know something about the Oceanic say that she only averages about 12 knots, and the tourists leaving Japan and China wait for the Canadian boats rather than travel in her.

The Oceanic is commanded by Captain W. H. Smith, who will probably assume command of the Coptic.

The White Star Company charter the Oceanic, Belgic and Gaelic to the Southern Pacific, a big charter being paid. It is understood that there will no difference in the charter rates agreed upon for the Oceanic and those to be paid for the Coptic. When the Oceanic is returned to San Francisco, an almost new vessel, the charter rates will still remain the same.

The Oceanic is now twenty-two years old. She was in her day one of the greyhounds of the Atlantic. She was the first passenger steamer to have cabins forward. Her accommodations even now are of a superior sort, though she is very slow.

A YOUNG WIFE.

Dismissed on a Charge of Truancy Preferred by Her Mother.

The only interesting case in the District Court yesterday was a charge of truancy against a native girl named Kanoka. Her mother took the stand and informed the Court that the girl, who is but fourteen years of age, ran away from home to join her husband. It seems that the pair were married last week without the mother's consent and now she is trying to separate them. The Court discharged the young wife.

Lung Kee was dismissed on a charge of selling goods without a license. Since his arrest he has obtained the necessary paper.

Two Japanese laborers were fined $3 each for deserting and were ordered to be returned to their respective plantations. Owing to C. Hammer's illness, his case went over until Friday.

Dredge Cable Parts.

The steel cable that is used on the dredger "ladder," parted yesterday. It has been bearing a weight of thirty-five tons, and has been in use since the dredger was built. There are 120 fathoms of this cable, and some difficulty is experienced in replacing it. Meantime the dredger is idle. Mr. Rowell has not yet decided between splicing or trying a smaller cable.

In Three Weeks, Now.

A prominent royalist said to Captain Smith of the Oceanic yesterday: "The Republic is going to pieces very rapidly. A collapse will be forced by our people in about three weeks. We may move sooner if the Yorktown leaves port."

Was a Schemer.

"Do you think Skinner can make a living out there?" "Make a living? Why, he'd make a living on a rock in the middle of the ocean—if there was another man on the rock."—Philadelphia Record.

WHERE SETTLERS ARE GOING IN.

Material Development Bounding Forward in Kona, Hawaii.

Superior Climate and Soil—Communities Springing Up—The Coffee Boom—Grand Scenery—Novel Echo.

John M. Vivas, who returned by the Hall yesterday, is filled with enthusiasm for North Kona and the entire island of Hawaii. He is warm in praise of the climate and possibilities for cultivation and eloquent in urging road construction.

Tremendous progress has been made on the large island. Mr. Vivas mentions a locality seven miles by fourteen which he rode over ten years ago and again last week. In 1884, there was not a foreigner on this territory. Now there are more than two hundred families with improved properties.

Coffee culture seems to have riveted the attention of everybody. The Hall brought an unusually heavy shipment. Land is being subjected everywhere. Coffee trees are being set out in all the gulches and on the lower hills. All sorts of experiments are being tried. No coffee is going to waste this year. Chinamen, natives and children are gathering every berry.

Kailua, Mr. Vivas reported as a delightful resort. He recommends the elevations, where a marked climatic change is greatly enjoyed. From one peak near Kailua may be seen Kilauea, Mauna Loa and the island of Maui. This makes an impressive panorama.

In the Hualalai mountains there is a peculiar crater that tourists usually miss. It is very clearly defined and has a circumference of two miles. Here is an echo phenomenon. Standing at any place on the circle and sending out a sound, it is quickly back on several routes. The echo is second only to Sam Andrew's private echo that answers questions and tells fortunes.

"Of an island like Hawaii," says Mr. Vivas, "very little can be learned except by a trip back from the coast. The way people are going in cannot be appreciated in Honolulu. Men are busy in every direction with development work."

Scrofula

The Worst Case the Doctors Ever Saw

Hood's Sarsaparilla Perfectly Cured

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Dear Sirs—I wish to testify to the great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For some time I had been troubled with scrofula, which early last winter assumed a very bad form.

Sores appeared on my face and hands and gradually increased in number until they reached to my shoulder. The doctors said it was the worst case of scrofula they ever saw and also went so far as to say it was incurable. I tried ointments and other remedies but to no avail. I then recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla, and although I was completely discouraged, as a last chance I resolved to give it a trial. After taking one bottle I noticed the sores had commenced to heal. After the sixth bottle

I continued to take it, however, until I had used nine bottles, and now I am perfectly well."
